ECHOES FROM THE CHAPTER HALL DAY ELEVEN

True worth is not found in flawless beauty but in the richness of imperfections. These imperfections are not flaws to hide but gifts to celebrate. This realisation is uplifting and life-giving, calling us to see beyond outward perfection.

Amidst emerging concerns, we are listening, searching, and discerning the Spirit's invitation.

In groups, this process is taking shape. Ideas are being shared, and writing is slowly forming into a concrete expression of our discernment. Time is also dedicated to ensuring that every voice is heard and considered.

At the heart of it all, one question lingers:
