ECHOES FROM THE CHAPTER HALL

DAY EIGHTEEN

As we continue our journey here, we are reminded of the profound truth: "I am standing on the shoulders of the ones who came before me. My shoulders will be there to hold the ones who follow me." This wisdom calls us to reflect on our past, our present responsibility, and our commitment to the future.

With that stirring invitation from the Spirit, we have begun our reflective journey, immersing ourselves in the orientations that have taken shape through the dedicated efforts of our various groups.

May this moment of reading and reflection open our hearts to new insights and strengthen our commitment to walk forward as true Pilgrims and Prophets of Paschal hope.
