ECHOES FROM THE CHAPTER HALL

DAY TWENTY

When the seed decides to shed its outer layer by dying to itself, it grows and bears fruit in abundance. The same mantra applies to our life too.

Today we gave a final touch to our chapter orientations in groups and started presenting them to others so that everyone is involved in the process.

Our hearts are filled with gratitude to all those who worked towards this and especially to those who worked behind this whole process. May God be praised.
